

Professional Coaching for Leaders

April 20, 2007 • Clairemont Inn
West Bend

Facilitated by:

Dr. Nancy Stanford-Blair, Professor of Leadership Studies, Cardinal Stritch University
Dr. Donna Recht, Associate Professor of Leadership Studies, Cardinal Stritch University and licensed clinical psychologist

Nancy Marsho, Experienced school principal, currently leading mentoring and coaching partnership efforts between CSU and various school districts

T.C. Motzkus, Staff Development Coordinator and Facilitator of Professional Coaching for Leaders

Build and expand your leadership capacity to coach and be coached at the individual, team and systems levels to increase student achievement with the skills you'll learn and experience at this interactive Professional Coaching for Leaders institute.

Participants will:

- Connect leadership coaching to the national administrative standards as an alternative to, or extension of, mentoring programs for new and experienced administrators and school based leadership teams.
- Learn and practice implementing five research based leadership lenses (Marzano, Fullan, Collins, Heifetz and others) through which to link leadership behavior to student achievement.
- Practice five key coaching skills: listening, intuition, curiosity, action learning and self-management.
- Examine current examples of application within schools and districts and determine applicability to your own site.
